TWO ENGINEERING DEGREES FROM TWO UNIVERSITIES

The dual engineering program lets you earn a Bachelor of Science in Physics from Oglethorpe and a specialized engineering baccalaureate degree from one of our partner engineering schools. With this unique option, you only spend five years studying for two degrees – and you get to experience life at two different universities.

YEARS 1 – 3

During your first three years at Oglethorpe, you will study foundational courses in science and math while receiving a broad education in the liberal arts.

Small class sizes give you plenty of contact time with faculty who are focused on their students' educational needs. You will also have lots of hands-on experience with sophisticated equipment during group laboratory sessions.

YEARS 4 – 5

During your final years, you will study at an Oglethorpe partner university:

- Georgia Institute of Technology
- Auburn University
- Kennesaw State University

Students must meet the entry requirements of whichever engineering program they wish to attend.

Stand out to employers with two respected degrees from two universities on your resume.
